Communicare's Difference

Social Skill Acquisition / Teaching

Most ABI survivors fail in the community because of inappropriate social interactions. An individual's ability to walk, speak or think doesn't necessarily make them accepted in society. It is our social skills that make us an accepted member of the community, or isolate us from it. To teach these skills to our residents we provide:

- Program Director and Assistant Program Director On-site
- Staff Trained in Social Skills Teaching
- Homes Operated via Self Government of the Residents
- Ongoing Staff Training and Testing
- Role Modeling and Role Playing
- Multiple Ongoing Community Based Trials
- Increased Levels of Independence

General Admission Criteria

- Acquired Brain Injury or Neurological Impairment
- 18 Years of Age or Older
- Able to Perform Activities of Daily Living with Supervision or Assistance, if Needed
- Able to Participate in Social and Leisure Activities with Supervision or Assistance, if Needed
- Medically Stable
